Alumni Profile: Tom Price

Tom Price was a camper in the 1960's and staff member in the 1960's-70's. He co-led the first Ramah trips to Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union and his travel experiences led him to create the podcast "Around the Jewish World with Tom Price."

As travel restrictions intensified with the growing COVID-19 pandemic in early 2020, Tom Price, a former US diplomat who has been to over 140 countries, was faced with a dilemma. For years he had been leading Jewish heritage tours throughout Europe and the former Soviet Union and sharing his vast knowledge of the Jewish history of the areas. Without the ability to travel and lead tourist groups, how could he stay busy as an educator?

That's when someone suggested he start a podcast. While's he's not tech-savvy, Tom decided to give it a try, and so "Around the Jewish World" was born. In each 15-20 minute episode, Tom leads a virtual tour to one of the many places he has visited. The podcast is filled with Jewish history and general history as well as personal anecdotes featuring friends Tom has made throughout his travels. Though short, each episode is packed with amazing stories, often highlighting surprising Jewish communities in unexpected places.

Tom caught the travel bug in the early 1970s. Tom had been a camper at Camp Ramah in Wisconsin in the 1960s, and despite not being "a happy camper," he came back on staff for several summers with his friend Larry Sternberg. During Larry's junior year abroad, they met in Kabul, Afghanistan and then spent six weeks visiting Jewish communities in the former Soviet Union. When they came back to camp after the travel abroad experience, Tom and Larry Sternberg loved telling stories about their travels to their campers – and the campers couldn't get enough.
